

UNIVERSITÄT KOBLENZ · LANDAU

The Institute of Communication Psychology and Media Education, Faculty 8: Psychology, Campus Landau invites applications for a

Junior Professorship in Political Psychology (W 1, tenure track)

Tasks:

Research and teaching in Political Psychology. Teaching responsibilities include courses in the Psychology and Social Sciences/Communication programs at the Campus Landau on the Bachelor and Master level. We are looking for a highly qualified person who has proven her or his research expertise with international publications and who has acquired third-party funding. A focus on and expertise in Media and Communication Psychology is desirable. The junior professorship is expected to contribute to the university's interdisciplinary research groups, e.g., "Communication, Media, and Politics". The initial teaching load is 4 hours/week (Semesterwochenstunden).

Professional Requirements:

In addition to the requirements specified by the educational law of the federal state of Rhineland-Palatinate, the candidate should have successfully completed a Diploma or Master's degree in Psychology, Communication or Political Science at a University, have teaching experience, and should prove additional scientific achievements, typically by the outstanding quality of the PhD thesis.

In case the candidate has been employed as a research assistant before or after receiving a PhD, the duration of employment should not exceed six years (excl. maternity leave and parental leave).

Junior professors are appointed as civil servants for three years. In case of positive evaluation, employment will be continued as junior professor for three more years.

If the Junior Professor fulfills the requirements of the Higher Education Law (esp. § 50 (5) sentence 3 HochSchG), the professorship may be turned into a permanent W2-professorship upon positive tenure evaluation after six years.

The federal state of Rhineland-Palatinate and the University of Koblenz-Landau expect teaching staff to be present at the University regularly.

Women with equal qualification and achievements will be preferred in case of underrepresentation in accordance with national law.

Candidates with documented disabilities and essentially equal qualifications will be given preference.

Applications (incl. CV, certificates, publication list, and list of classes taught) have to be sent as one pdf-file via email to bewerbung@uni-koblenz-landau.de by June 7, 2018. Applicants are asked to provide their name and the application number 48/2018 in the subject line of their application.
