What is a cooperative degree?

A cooperative master degree, be it e.g. a joint, double, "3+2" or any format alike, offers students a chance to study in an international environment, gain knowledge and skills from both partner universities based on a concept of a complementary curriculum. Especially, in the end of this program, qualified students will achieve two Master Degrees: one issued by their home university, and one issued by the University of Koblenz-Landau.

The University of Koblenz-Landau was awarded with the excellence title "Entrepreneurial University" by the German Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy.

Why apply?

- Get two Master Degrees: one issued by your home university, and one issued by the University of Koblenz-Landau, one out of only 22 excellent entrepreneurial universities in Germany.

- Excellence in research and teaching especially in entrepreneurship, technology, and innovation management. Our lecturers are involved in international collaborative research projects and participate in governmental advisory groups.

- Individual student assistance by tutors and professors.
